Smart way to combat burglaries is launched

A SCHEME to reduce burglaries and return stolen property to victims has been launched in Cannock and Rugeley.

SmartWater is used to mark property using a chemical-coded liquid and has been used in court to convict thieves.

Cannock Chase Council has joined with Staffordshire Police and the county council to roll out the system to hundreds of homes most at risk in the area.

The marking, which glows under ultra-violet light, is applied to valuable items, such as jewellery, electrical items and mobile phones, so that if stolen and later seized by police, their owner can be traced.

In Nottingham where it has been used in 30,000 homes, there has been a reported 40 per cent reduction in burglary since the start of the initiative.

Police say they regularly scan offenders and stolen goods for SmartWater markings.

Council leader Councillor George Adamson said: "The SmartWater operation has successfully been implemented into our local area over the last couple of days. It will help local residents to protect their possessions and will act as a deterrent for would-be burglars."

Research

"SmartWater has proved it can help us stay one step ahead of thieves and I would encourage residents in the area to support this initiative".

Development of SmartWater was started in the mid-1990s by retired police detective Phil Cleary and his brother Mike, a chemist.

In research Professor Martin Gill, a professor of criminology at the University of Leicester, asked more than 100 criminals whether the presence of SmartWater would deter them from committing a burglary, and 74 per cent said that it would.

Staffordshire County Councillor Robert Marshall, said the scheme would offer residents 'peace of mind'.

Chief Inspector Carl Ratcliffe, commander of Cannock Chase Police, urged residents to take up an offer to have their property marked for free.

He said: "I am determined to continue to reduce crime even further throughout Cannock Chase."

Officers will be knocking on doors in selected areas over the next two months offering residents the chance to benefit from the scheme.

Packs will be distributed or officers can help householders mark up their valuables. Each bottle of the liquid can mark up to 60 items. For more details, contact SmartWater on 0870 242 8899.

Council leader Councillor George Adamson, Sergeant Becky Cawkwell of Cannock Chase Local Policing Unit, local Fire Officer Carl Payne and County Councillor Robert Marshall launch the SmartWater scheme

Children clown around for reading challenge

CIRCUS entertainer Dudley the clown taught youngsters the tricks of the trade at Rugeley Library.

The free workshop was held at the Anson Street facility as part of the council's summer reading challenge which has a circus theme.

The challenge runs until September 10 and County councillor Pat Corfield, cabinet member for culture, said he felt it was important for youngsters to continue to develop reading skills during the holidays.

"The Summer Reading Challenge is a fantastic initiative that encourages children to broaden their horizons and hone their literature skills even when the school year is over."

BURNTWOOD'S new health centre at Greenwood House finally looks set to become a reality after a dramatic intervention from Staffordshire County Council

The protracted saga of the centre has been ongoing for years but the project looked dead in the water when it was cancelled by South Staffordshire PCT earlier this year.

However it now seems likely that the council will step in and deliver the centre in as early as 18 months time.

Councillor Matthew Ellis, the county's cabinet member for adult wellbeing, said that formal plans were now being drawn up and an official decision would be made in six to eight weeks.

The council has conducted a three-month study of the project's viability, which concluded that the financial case was sound.

"I've agreed that the technical specification and building design phase can now be started and that will identify any practical issues which need to be addressed," Councillor Ellis said.

Building

"I am hopeful that the scheme will progress which will not only be good for the Burntwood community but also for securing more efficient, cost effective healthcare services for Staffordshire people."

Councillor Ellis said he was grateful to the PCT for their cooperation in securing the project's future.

"We see an opportunity to bring a joined-up approach to health and social care as well as other services at the Greenwood House site," he added.

"It would mean a brand new building with a number of community services co-located including the Fulfen and the Spire GP surgeries."

"The financial case is viable because of the co-location efficiencies we can secure."

More than 500 residents last month signed a petition renewing calls for a health centre in Burntwood.

Councillor Steve Tranter, who has campaign vociferously for the centre to become a reality, said it was great news for the people of Burntwood.

"Local people were devastated when the PCT dropped the proposals earlier this year," he said.

"We all understand the pressures on public finances but not having a health centre in the Swan Island area of Burntwood means thousands of people, many elderly, wouldn't have decent access to health services."

"It's not a done deal yet but having talked with Councillor Ellis only last week things are looking very positive indeed and that is great news for Burntwood people."

Lichfield District councillor Helen Fisher said the local authority was delighted with the news.

"A health centre at Greenwood House has been on the cards for many years but never got anywhere near the position we are now in," she said.

"This is a real tonic for local people in such tough times."

Plea on first town job fair

CHASE MP Aidan Burley is urging local businesses to support Cannock's first ever jobs fair in a bid to boost employment in the town.

Mr Burley has organised the free event on Friday September 23, from 10am until 4pm, at the Cannock campus of South Staffordshire College, on The Green.

Having personally written to more than 100 local businesses, organisations and charities Mr Burley is now publicly calling on employers with vacancies to get behind the event and reserve a stall.

There will also be a series of seminars throughout the day for people to drop by and learn about CV writing and interview techniques.

Mr Burley said: "Many employers tell me they are looking to take on new people but they do not know how best to meet those in search for a job."

"At the same time many local people who are out of full time work tell me how desperate they are to get a job but they do not know which employers are looking to recruit."

"The jobs fair is my attempt to put these two together so they can meet each other, network and discuss what opportunities may be available and I urge businesses to get behind it."

For more details or to reserve a stall call Claire Wixon on 01543 502447 or email claire.wixon@parliament.uk

No start date for sports pitch Club appeals for top performer

A START date has yet to be announced for a new £500,000 artificial sports pitch at a Cannock secondary school.

Cannock Chase Council agreed in December to use £305,000 available from Section 106 planning agreements towards the project at Cardinal Griffin RC High School.

But in a behind closed doors meeting last week, the council's culture and sport policy development committee heard there were still issues to be sorted out before work can begin.

The cash is part of money paid by Asda under the conditions of planning permission for its 24-hour store in Avon Road built in 2005.

The £562,000 was intended to build an artificial sports pitch at the old Cannock Stadium. Since the stadium was demolished in November 2009, Asda has been trying to claim the cash back.

The council should have spent the money by May last year – and while Asda was initially willing to extend the time limit, it now says the stadium being demolished means the agreement is void.

The synthetic floodlit football pitch is backed by the Staffordshire FA.

A CANNOCK-based acrobatics club is looking for a talented female gymnast from Staffordshire or the Black Country to take part in a national competition in time for the British Championships next year.

Gemma Chilton, who runs South Staffs Acrobatic Ltd, is looking for a talented youngster to join the club. She said: "The club has gymnasts who travel from all over the region, from Stafford, Stoke, Walsall, Wednesbury, Wolverhampton. We are aiming to appeal to all areas.

"South Staffs Acrobatics is successful in national competitions and is the top acrobatics club in the Midlands region."

"This year we have produced 21 regional champions at various grades and had 14 gymnasts representing the club and region at the British Championships, all finishing in top six places. We are now looking for a talented female gymnast aged from 10 to 13 years-old, who has had experience in competitions."

The school currently runs classes out of Advance Business Park, in Burdock Close, Cannock and is planning a move to invest in new, larger, premises in Hedgesford.

Anyone interested in attending a trial is asked to contact Gemma on 07734 104955.

Donations could help put Hoard on display

DONATIONS made by visitors to this summer's Staffordshire Hoard on Tour exhibition will help to create permanent galleries to display the Anglo-Saxon treasure.

More than 22,000 people visited the first leg of the tour at Stafford's Shire Hall Gallery and all free tickets have been snapped up for the current display in Lichfield Cathedral which runs until Sunday (August 21).

During its stay at the cathedral, another 14,000 people will visit to view some of the gold and silver objects which were unearthed at nearby Hammerwich in July 2009.

Although entrance to the tour displays is free, the Mercian Trail Partnership hopes that many thousands of pounds will come in from visitors' donations.

The money will go towards the £1.7m which is needed to create hoard galleries at both Birmingham Museum and Art Gallery and the Potteries Museum in Stoke-on-Trent for the 3,500-plus artefacts dug up from a farmer's field.

It is also intended to have permanent displays at the cathedral and Tamworth Castle as part of the Mercian Trail.

The tour moves on to Tamworth Castle from August 27 to September 18.

Free timed tickets can be booked on 01827 709581 or 018227 709618.

The hoard is owned and cared for by Birmingham City Council and Stoke-on-Trent City Council.

Warning is issued over debt scheme

A WARNING has gone out to tenants in Cannock Chase to be wary of debt management schemes by private finance companies.

A couple, who do not want to be named, were talked into signing up for a repayment plan for £3,000 worth of debts, including council tax arrears.

They paid £50 in cash up front with a further 49 monthly payments of £100. But during a meeting with council rent officer Joanne Dowling to discuss their problems further, she read the small print in their agreement and noted that £320 would be taken by the company from the couple's first five instalments in 'administration' and 'set-up' fees.

A further £20 would be taken in 'company fees' for every £100 instalment after that.

The housing officer wrote to the company on the tenants' behalf within the 30-day cooling-off period to cancel the agreement.

She said the couple could have had better debt advice free of charge from the Citizens Advice Bureau.

History group meeting date

RON Darby will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Bridgton and District Local History Society.

Mr Darby grew up in the village and later taught at the primary school he attended. He has a distinguished war record and is an excellent speaker who has had a very full and varied life which is happy to share with visitors.

The meeting takes place from 7.30pm on Wednesday August 24, at the Community Centre, in Bridge Street, opposite the Ramada hotel.

Non-members are welcome to attend.

MP backs moves on shops

CANNOCK Chase MP Aidan Burley has welcomed new measures to revive Britain's high streets. Parking charges will fall in town centres and more spaces created for motorists under the new Government proposals.

Communities Minister Eric Pickles wants more people to shop in town centres rather than out-of-town supermarkets. He is encouraging civic leaders to lower parking fees to attract more shoppers to fading high streets trade. Centrally imposed limits on town centre parking spaces will be scrapped, and there will be more charging spaces for electric cars.

Mr Burley said: "The return of fairer parking is great news for Cannock Chase. We want to see more parking spaces to help small shops prosper and assist mums struggling with their family shop," added the Tory MP.

Chase summer concerts set to return next year

CANNOCK Chase's popular summer weekend of live music will continue next year, the Forestry Commission has announced. The concerts will return on Friday, June 29 and Saturday, June 30.

Previous summer concerts on the Chase have included performances by Simply Red, Keane, Status Quo, Jools Holland and Paul Weller.

This year's summer performances featured Erasure on the Friday evening and Simple Minds on the Saturday.

Profit

Alistair Semple, a Forestry Commission spokesman, said that this year's shows combined sold 97.5 per cent of the full ticket allocation and staff are still calculating how much profit the two dates generated for the organisation.

Mr Semple said no date has yet been set for tickets going on sale, but added he hopes to see them available before Christmas.

He said: "From our marketing point of view, we would like to have them out before the Christmas period, which gives people more time to buy them and it gives people a chance to buy them as presents for their family and friends."

Bravado

Lee, of Wilcox Avenue, Pye Green, admitted charges of producing cannabis and attempting to supply heroin.

Judge Robin Onions accused Lee of bravado in his dealings with the probation services but put it down to either fear or immaturity.

He told him: "You're still very young, you've got a lot of growing up to do, but there's a pattern of offending. You were disarmingly frank with the police – you told them you intended to sell the cannabis."

"At the same time the police found a quantity of powder."

"You believed it to be heroin and you intended to supply it on the basis it was heroin."

Mr Chris Clark, defending, said: "It was a pretty amateurish attempt by him to keep himself in supply."

Not the winner

THE winner of ticket 0402 in the last draw for Hedgesford Trader's Lottery was not Sheila Green as stated last week in The Chronicle. Sheila, who drew the winning ticket, joined a host of local councillors on Saturday August 6 to help promote the lottery to other local traders. We apologise for the mistake.

Loft cannabis factory man jailed after raid

A MAN who set up a mini-cannabis factory in the loft of his Cannock home has been jailed for a total of 32 months, following a raid by police. Officers found the growing room at Wayne Lee's house in Pye Green, in January, Stafford Crown Court heard.

Mr Pat Sullivan, prosecuting, said 25 plants were under cultivation in a hydroponic system.

He added that the haul had a potential estimated street value of £5,000. Also found in the property were nine wraps containing a brown powder.

Lee, aged 22, told officers he believed the powder was heroin and he was going to sell it on the street for a small profit. In fact, the powder turned out to be a harmless substance which was not illegal, the court heard.

Mr Sullivan said the potential yield of the cannabis was 875 grams, estimated variously. One value was £7,800 but they had agreed a price of £5,000.

"The wraps contained a low level of cocaine," said Mr Sullivan. "The defendant accepted he had set up the cannabis factory, starting it for personal use because he had a heavy habit."

"He thought the powder was heroin and anticipated selling it on the street for a small profit."

Also found at the house was a mobile phone containing text requests for small amounts of drugs.

Staff in national charity quest

Store manager Stag, back left, with Alzheimer's Research fundraisers Adam Porter, back, and Shaun Nicholls and Chelsea Arrowsmith

DAREDEVIL members of staff from a Cannock supermarket are hoping to help bag £1,000 for the company's charity of the year.

The Iceland store, in Market Place, is just one of the branches across the country pulling out all the stops to hit the £1 million target for Alzheimer's Research.

On Saturday, colleagues Shaun Nicholls and Chelsea Arrowsmith plunged 195ft in a bungee jump in Sheffield.

Meanwhile duo Daniel Blick and Adam Porter will be warming up for an 11-mile run from the Iceland store in Stafford back to Cannock on Thursday August 25.

Senior supervisor Jenny Arrowsmith said: "We urge people to drop by and donate as much money as they can. It is a great event that brings the staff and customers together to help us raise money for such a worthy cause."

Other events during the week include a back to school tombola on August 20, a Hawaiian fancy dress day for all the staff on August 23 and a homemade cake sale on August 27.

To sponsor the team drop in to the store or call them on 01543 505902.

Rocker Brookes is back on road

A ROCK star from Burntwood who battled back from a life-threatening illness is set to hit the road again.

Charlatans drummer Jon Brookes collapsed on stage during a gig with the chart-topping band in the USA last summer.

The father-of-three nearly died from the brain tumour but has now made a full recovery.

Final plans are now being put in place for a tour of the far East and he is keen to get back to what he knows best – playing the drums.

"With the love and support from family and friends, I've refocused and I'm really excited about the future," he said.

Collapsed

"I'm feeling great and on the mend. The world came crashing down around me when I collapsed on stage. I'm still having check-ups and precautionary treatment, but things are looking up."

Following his collapse in Philadelphia – which made news headlines around the world – Brookes underwent chemotherapy to tackle the tumour on his brain.

A sell-out show in Valencia recently followed a short reunion gig in Birmingham last year.

Brookes has recently set up JB's Rehearsal Rooms in Cannock which gives youngsters the chance to use recording facilities.

Order on man was breached

AMAN with a drink problem breached a restraining order then confessed to the probation service because he wanted to go back to prison, a court heard.

Neil Barnhill left a message on the mobile phone of a woman he had been in a relationship with, but was prohibited from contacting her, prosecutor Miss Naila Iqbal told Nuneaton magistrates.

Barnhill, aged 40, of Selwyn Road, Burntwood, breached an order imposed following a conviction for harassment, criminal damage and assault.

He had admitted contacting Verity Clarke in Rugby on July 25 and was given an 18-month community order, with 18 months supervision, and told to take part in a treatment programme.

Miss Iqbal said: "He said he wanted to breach the order to go back to prison."

Parish first to sign up to AONB member scheme

A PARISH council has become the first in the county to sign up to Cannock Chase Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty's membership scheme.

Councillor John Bernard, who sits on the landmark authority, Heath Hayes & Wimblebury parish council, said: "Cannock Chase is so important to everyone living in our parish, and it's wonderful that through the membership scheme we can help to protect and enhance this beautiful landscape and its wildlife."

"We all take advantage of Cannock Chase in our daily lives. It's really important that we don't just take it for granted, and we help to look after it for our generation and our future generations."

He added: "We are really proud to have become the first parish council member, and we'd encourage other parish and town councils to get involved."

Cannock Chase AONB launched its membership package in 2011. As well as newsletters and a book of stunning photographs, members' contributions help the AONB partnership to protect the landscape, while also giving members the chance to get a behind the scenes look at how the local area is managed.

Projects

Emma Beaman-Green, assistant AONB officer, said: "We're delighted that Heath Hayes & Wimblebury parish council has signed up to our membership scheme, and we're looking forward to members of the community getting involved in a variety of projects across Cannock Chase."

"We're also hoping other parish councils will follow its lead and join to help us carry out our essential work to protect and enhance the AONB. The AONB team delivers a wide range of activities designed to project this beautiful landscape."

"Cannock Chase AONB is part of 8,000 square miles of protected landscape across England. It is important we manage this distinctive and precious habitat well," Emma added.

Drop in student numbers going on to university

Report highlights fears for future job prospects

THE number of pupils from Cannock Chase going on to higher education has fallen to less than a fifth.

The figures have raised concerns about the students' future employment prospects.

They indicate that qualifications across the Cannock Chase district at all levels – GCSE, A-level and degree – are worryingly low, with the number of students going on to university the worst on record.

The trend is being considered by council chiefs as part of a plan to raise economic growth, take advantage of job opportunities and regenerate the town.

Despite a gradual improvement in GCSE results over the past five years, attainment levels have remained consistently below county, regional and national averages. Just 19 per cent of local GCSE students went on to higher education compared to a 28 per cent average for the county, with the skills gap widening further up the qualification scale.

A report to a meeting of the town centre regeneration policy committee on Tuesday highlighted the increasing number of 'white collar' jobs in the district with the construction of several office-based sites in recent years, lately Aggreko and Veolia, both at Kingswood Lakeside.

These have provided more than 4,000 jobs between 2001 and 2010. Other major investors during this period include DHL, part of Unilever, 3663 First for Food Service, Ultra Electronics, Whitbread, Thyssen Krupp Tallent, Briggs Equipment, Rhens Logistics, Electrium/Siemens and Sunflex.

Claimants

The full picture equates to a 40 per cent growth in businesses in the 13 years from 1996, which saw employment rise from 72 per cent in 2008 to 76 per cent last year. However, of the total jobseekers' claimants in the district, as many as 34 per cent are 18-24 year olds, compared with 28 per cent nationally.

The report acknowledged that much had been done to replace declining coal-mining and related industries, but it added: "However, issues with educational attainment, adult skills levels and areas of high levels of unemployment and benefit claimants remain in the district."

Carol service

BURNTWOOD Town Council will this year stage its civic carol service on December 23 at 7pm at St John's Community Church.

More to come as village hall undergoes a revamp

A VILLAGE hall has been given an overhaul with more improvements on the way.

The management committee at Cannock Wood and Gentleshaw Village Hall raised £461 towards the project and the fund was boosted by a £4,000 grant from the Veolia Environmental Trust.

Over the last 50 years the floor of the hall in Buds Road, Cannock Wood, has suffered from the wear and tear of community use, resulting in the cracked and uneven flooring throughout its kitchen, meeting room and entrance foyer.

The old Terrazzo and thermoplastic floors have now been substituted with a new even non-slip surface. The 1960s village hall is a venue for a wide variety of community activities hosting a range of clubs from pre-school, playgroup, gardening club, Evergreens to WI and flower arranging.

Potholes

Additional improvements at the hall, including the repair of potholes in the car park are now under way.

Tomorrow night (Friday) at 7.30pm, there will be three hours of live music in the hall raising funds for a new renewable energy system.

Service of remembrance

Left, Neele Neubert, aged 17, from Bremen and Jonathan Corbett, 18, from Wombourne

WREATH laying ceremonies were held at two military cemeteries on Cannock Chase.

The annual event, which involves youngsters, took place at the German and Commonwealth cemeteries.

The German cemetery contains the graves of nearly 5,000 German and Austrian servicemen who died in the First and Second World Wars.

It is maintained by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission under a reciprocal agreement with the German War Graves Commission.

There is a section for the crews of four airships that were shot down in the First World War. The cemetery opened in 1956 after bodies were transferred from sites around the UK to the Chase.

The remembrance services are part of a programme of events organised by Staffordshire County Council's youth service.

The schedule has also seen German youngsters from Bremen tending to the grave plots of both German and British soldiers.

Youngsters have been making annual visits from Germany to help tend the military plots for nearly 50 years.

Make-A-Wish volunteer Angela Weston with Motorhouse sales executives

Charity aid on car firm's wish list

A CANNOCK car firm is going the extra mile for a children's charity after pledging its support for the next 12 months.

The Motorhouse, a car super-market on the A5, has announced its new charity partner will be Make-A-Wish Foundation.

The national charity grants wishes, such as meeting heroes or fulfilling lifelong ambitions, to children and young people fighting life-threatening illnesses.

Since the Make-A-Wish Foundation was established in 1986 it has granted more than 6,500 wishes to youngsters across the UK.

To kick off the new partnership The Motorhouse is hosting an awareness weekend from August 27-29, where visitors will be able to find out more about the charity and make donations.

Motorhouse marketing manager Steve Campbell said:

"Although The Motorhouse has supported local charities throughout our 25 year history, the amazing efforts of Make-A-Wish have encouraged us to make a commitment to them for the forthcoming year," he said.

"We hope to ensure that young people fighting life-threatening illnesses continue to have their wishes fulfilled."

Visit www.make-a-wish.org.uk for more information.

Health plan as elderly population set to rise

THE over-65 population in Cannock is predicted to increase by 60 per cent in the next 30 years – with potential consequences for local health services.

The number of people across the Chase district will rise from 14,400 in 2008 to an estimated 23,700 in 2030, new figures reveal.

Health chiefs warn that an ageing population has the potential to significantly affect the use of health services. They have drawn up an action plan to improve health and counteract a drain on resources.

The survey by Cannock Chase District Council shows, although the number of smokers has dropped, 26 per cent of the population still smoke, higher than the national average.

Circulatory diseases, cancer, and respiratory problems account for 72 per cent of all deaths in the district.

Obese

The rate for premature death from circulatory disease in Cannock Chase is the highest in Staffordshire while early deaths from cancer, especially lung cancer, are also higher, at 126 annually compared to 115 nationally.

In addition, the number of obese adults in the area stands at 29 per cent, well above the national figure of 24.

Death rates at any age in Cannock Chase are the highest in Staffordshire. The life expectancy for local men is 20 months lower than the national average, while women in the district will die on average 19 months earlier.

A report produced by the council for health chiefs warns: "Cannock Chase continues to face a number of health inequalities which not only affect the quality of life and healthy years expectancy of its residents but also have a significant impact on overall prosperity."

The council action plan includes giving intervention training in alcohol and tobacco issues to at least 24 staff. The authority expects to save £540,000 a year from April by getting residents to increase their fitness.

Talk of the town at group meeting

MORE tales of Old Cannock is the subject of the talk at a history society meeting next week.

Mike Hewitt, from Cannock Conduit Trust, will address Cheslyn Hay & District Local History Society on Thursday, August 25, from 7.30pm.

Admission is £1 to the talk at the Salem, in High Street, with refreshments included. Non-members are also welcome.

West End for youngsters

Graham Tudor seen with youngsters taking part in the summer school group

AMUSICAL theatre summer school has run in Huntington, near Cannock. Graham Tudor, from drama training group TrEAD, led the course at Littleton Green Community School last week.

It ended with a performance of a show called West End Story 2 featuring songs from musicals Grease, Mamma Mia! and Hairspray.

The performance was in aid of Acorns Children's Hospice and TrEAD hope to raise £1,000. The youngsters attending the summer school will also take part in a professional version of the show alongside West End performers at the Rugeley Rose Theatre on October 16.

The performance will also raise funds for Acorns Children's Hospice.

Graham from Chadsmoor, who has appeared on the West End, and his wife Helen Noble, who was in the soap Hollyoaks will also be appearing in TrEAD's panto Cinderella at the Rose from December 13 to 17.

Mobile giants in new bid for phone masts

MOBILE phone giants Vodafone and O2 have launched fresh plans to erect a mobile phone mast in a Cannock village in a bid to improve the firm's 3G coverage of the area.

The companies, acting under an umbrella called Cornerstone, want to put up a 57ft mast in Bridgtown under plans which are a resubmission of an application which was refused in March.

The last bid, for a mast which was 7ft shorter, was turned down by Cannock Chase Council because planning chiefs said it would be a blot on the landscape. It would have been set up in Brookfield Drive.

Planning officers recommended the previous plans for approval, but the suggestion was bootied out by councillors, who said satellites in the sky, not masts in the street, were the solution.

The last mast would have had three antennae surrounded by cabinets measuring 13ft by 13ft, enclosed by a 6ft metal fence.

The new mast, which would be taller, is narrower with a smaller head frame, which Vodafone hopes will make councillors reverse their decision.

Some councillors, however, said they objected to the old plans because of concerns about health risks.

Prior to the last decision, officers had considered two reports which suggested there were no known health risks associated with living near mobile phone masts.

The Stewart Report, published in 2000, concluded that there was "no general risk to the health of people living near base stations, on the basis that exposures are expected to be fractions of guidelines".

Worries

The World Health Organisation last year stated that no adverse effects from mobile phone use had been established.

Councillor Frank Allen said he still had worries that the antennae could harm residents' health.

Rob Matthews, a spokesman for Cornerstone, said: "This site was selected after consideration of six alternative sites, as the industrial estate, along with a backdrop of trees, allowed us to design a site which would blend in with the surrounding area."

Foam party

THE Silver Blades Ice Rink in Lakeside Plaza, Bridgtown is holding a foam party on September 3 from 7.30-10pm. Tickets cost £6 without skates and £8 with. Booking is required.

Firms dismisses risk to health claims of protesters

THE health risks associated with living near a 39ft phone mast are no greater than eating pickled vegetables or drinking coffee, a mobile phone company has told campaigners.

Hundreds of residents are protesting against a mast being sited opposite a pre-school nursery in Boley Park, Lichfield.

O2 and Vodafone have put forward a planning application for a mobile phone base station in Ryknild Street. Opponents describe it as "unsightly and dominating".

But their main concern is the health of local residents, especially children, with the proposed site directly opposite Boley Park Pre School for two to five-year-olds.

The phone companies say the mast is a necessary addition to improve reception.

Describe

Leading campaigner Alan Begley, of Darnford Moors, Lichfield, said a base station is one of the biggest types of mast installations, able to communicate with hand-sets up to 22 miles away.

He said this was unnecessary given that both firms describe their coverage as good.

The petition is at The Turnpike pub and Robert Broad Travel, at the Boley Park Centre. Closing date for objections is August 26.

Roll up your sleeves plea

DONORS can roll up their sleeves in Burntwood tomorrow (Friday).

The National Blood Service will be at the Memorial Institute, in Rugeley Road, from 1.30 to 3.30pm and from 4.30 to 7.30pm.

Volunteers can also give blood at Cannock's Civic Centre, in Beecroft Road, on Monday (August 22) between the same times. To book, call 0300 123 23 23.

Music group puts out the call for more men

MUSICAL men are needed for a new production of Jesus Christ Superstar, set to be staged in Cannock later this year.

The call is being made by Chadsmoor Choral Society which will be presenting the popular Andrew Lloyd Webber show at The Prince of Wales Centre, in Church Street. The four-night run starts on November 9. The cast features several strong male leads, including the 12 disciples.

Chairman Nik Ellis said: "Rehearsals only recently got under way, so newcomers have plenty of time to learn the music and choreography."

Rehearsals are at 7.30pm on Wednesdays at Chadsmoor Methodist church hall. Call 07736 699857.

Boost for businesses as new Chamber president takes over

THE new president of Chase Chamber of Commerce wants to raise the profile of the district, claiming businesses are too modest about their achievements.

Anne King, co-owner of Ultralogic Solutions in Essington, also wants to reach more small businesses. She takes over from Fred Pritchard who has been at the helm for two and a half years.

She said: "There is a lot in Cannock Chase to shout about and I'm keen to support what companies are doing."

The successful businesswoman said achieving an MBA while working full-time gave her the confidence to start her company in 1994, several years after graduating from Liverpool University with a degree in economics. The firm specialises in software computer systems, creating tailor-made programmes for companies, chiefly in the construction and waste disposal industries, but also in the retail and distribution sectors.

The Darlaston-born boss, who is in her 50s, said: "Before setting up my own business I served my time in the Potteries industry and heavy manufacturing."

Variety

"I feel my background has helped me to appreciate the problems of a wide variety of businesses."

"When I started up on my own, we received support from the Chamber and after a few years you want to put something back, so you put yourself forward for office, which feels like a crazy thing to do when we are all running our own businesses."

Ms King, who lives in Hatherton Croft, Cannock, with her partner John Driscoll, co-owner of Ultralogic, added: "Some firms have the impression that the Chamber is all about networking but there's a lot more to it than that. I'd love to raise the awareness of the organisation so that more middle and small businesses could benefit from our support."

Outgoing president Fred Pritchard, 68-year-old chairman of Pritchard Group and Pritchard Holdings, will continue to sit on the Chamber council. He said during his term of office the absorption of the Chase Chamber into the Greater Birmingham and Solihull Chamber, gave it extra strength.

Special celebration for club's 90th anniversary

Toasting 90 years of Cannock Ex-Servicemen's Club are Jason Haytree and committee member Dave Elcock

Flying the flag are ex-servicemen's club members Alan and Maurice Emery, John Griffin and Jeff Williams

AN ex-servicemen's club – which still operates out of the original building – has marked its 90th anniversary.

Cannock Ex-Servicemen's Club, in Walsall Road, was founded in 1921 by a group of First World War veterans and nine decades later, the club is still thriving with around 500 members.

The founders wanted to replicate the camaraderie soldiers had experienced while serving in the forces. Today the club is still has scores of ex-military men keen to talk about the good old days, although many regulars are now not ex-servicemen and women.

David Stanford, aged 76, of Barnwood Close, Cannock, has been coming to the club since the mid-1970s. Mr Stanford served in the Royal Army Ordnance Corps between 1953 and 1955 and was based in Tel-el-Kebir, in the north-east of Cairo, Egypt, leading up to the Suez Crisis.

He says he enjoys meeting with friends for a quiet drink and a chat. Mr Stanford said: "I used to take pictures of them with their local paper and send it back home."

The pensioner spent a year and nine months in Tel-el-Kebir, devoting much of his time to driving important people around. He said: "I volunteered to be on escort duties, going to an from the airport. The camp was around 18 square miles and there were mine fields all around it."

Mr Stanford says he was glad to get back home, but he said it was an "experience".

Gordon Mycock, aged 81, from Brownhills, has been a member since the 1970s. Mr Mycock – who served in the RAF from 1947 to 1950 – said the club had changed a lot in his membership.

Cannock Ex-Servicemen's Club, Walsall Road

"The majority of members now are not ex-servicemen. It used to be but that's changed. Back then some turned up in uniform and people were ticked off on a list. It's an achievement for it to be 90 years old."

Concerts

Maurice Emery, 82, has been a member for 30 years. He served in the forces in Germany after the Second World War.

"It's a good club to be in and I enjoy spending time with the other members. They have concerts and all sorts of other events on."

His nephew, Alan Emery, aged 73, is president of the ex-servicemen's club as well as sitting on

Cheslyn Hay Parish Council. "It's one of the few places where you know there won't be bad language or yobs and where we respect one another" he said. "We support the heroes in service of our country while it's also a place to come and have a pint and play snooker."

Bar manager Jason Haytree, aged 25, said: "It used to be a men only club, but they later changed it. It's a great place to work, everybody is very friendly and we never get any trouble, it's not just for ex-servicemen, anybody can come in."

The club put on special events each year to mark D Day, VE Day, VJ Day and the Battle of Britain.

Call for loyalty in battle of lotteries

IT IS the battle of the lotteries – and so far Rugeley is way out in front of neighbouring Hednesford, it can be revealed.

A call has been made to Hednesford people to be more loyal to their town by buying tickets that will benefit their community.

The Hednesford Shop Local Lottery scheme divides a cash pot fifty-fifty between one lucky winner and community projects.

The Rugeley version has been more successful, causing residents to snub their own town's initiative. This is in the hope of winning a larger cash prize. Both draws aim to encourage shopping locally.

Councillor Linda Whitehouse says she and traders are stuck in a 'catch 22' situation and the cash pot will only go up if people support their local traders. Residents are invited to buy a £1 ticket to enter the monthly draw which was dropped temporarily in the town during May as not enough tickets were sold to keep the project afloat.

Higher

The initiative was resurrected in June, with the scheme bringing in around £350 a month, compared to around £700 in Rugeley.

Councillor Whitehouse said: "I carried out some market research on the day of the last draw and some of the comments that I got back were that some people would rather go to Rugeley where the prize is higher. I don't think some people realise that it benefits their local community. If we sell 1,000 tickets, then that's £500 going towards the town," she said. "If everyone just bought one ticket, just think how much that could generate."

Councillor Whitehouse has also called on more businesses to back the scheme. She said: "People could advertise on the back of the tickets, which would be good PR for them."

She hopes enough money will be raised to arrange a Santa's grotto for the town centre's children this Christmas.

Angi Cooney, of Rugeley Traders, said: "We're just delighted. It is just going from strength to strength. If people feel they want to shop in Rugeley then that's great for us, but I don't think people are coming here just for the lottery."

Special event will explore mining past

THEY had been a feature of the local landscape since the 13th century but now the coal mines of Cannock Chase have been consigned to the history books.

Since the last mine closed in 1993, virtually all evidence relating to the mining industry has disappeared.

Now ex-miners are keen for local residents to visit a history fair next month to learn about the industrial heritage of their area.

The two-day event at the Museum of Cannock Chase in Hednesford, on the site of the former Valley Colliery, is a chance to find out more about the coal industry in the district through displays, films and presentations.

Former pitman Alan Dean, of Melbourne Road, Heath Hayes, is chairman of the Cannock Chase Mining Historical Society and is urging people to attend the fair.

It will take place on over the weekend of September 10 and 11, from 11am at the Valley Road museum.

Committee to tour anti-social hotspot areas Council bosses in troublespots visit

COUNCIL chiefs are to go on a tour of local anti-social behaviour hotspots in Cannock and Rugeley.

They aim to tackle the issues of thefts, litter, graffiti and other vandalism before a meeting to discuss crime and community safety.

The visit, around Cannock and Rugeley, will take place later this month. The tour is intended to introduce new members of the environmental health committee to problem areas. But bosses at Cannock Chase District Council say anti-social behaviour in the area is falling.

Crimes of this sort have fallen from 1,708 between April and August last year to 1,241 over the same time this year, a drop of 27 per cent.

Perception

However the council is concerned about the rising and disproportionate fear of crime across the district.

Council spokesman Alastair Smith said: "The real problem is the perception of crime in the area which is rising without cause. In a survey by Staffordshire Police in March, it showed that 14 per cent of people believed that the level of anti-social behaviour had increased in the area, which is not actually the case.

"The new committee is keen to address that gap between the perception and the reality of it."

He said the proposed tour would look into concerns such as poor street lighting which helps criminals carry out their anti-social activities with less chance of being detected.

What about the parents?

Although like many people I could say that those people concerned in riots, are low life and deserve all they get.

I was bought up in the slums of Birmingham in the 60s and even though we had nothing we never went out and rioted and looted shops. But what I want to say is to the parent of these low life.

I would without any hesitation take a child of mine to the police station and hand them in for what they did.

There is no justification for anyone to break the law and it is obvious that these people who are as young as 14 must live at home.

These parent who allow this to happen and turn a blind eye to the action of their children are no better than them.

They should be ashamed that they gave birth to these children and that they refuse to take action to punish children by handing them over to the police.

This makes me wonder what message this give to these thugs when they grow up. Is it saying you can do what you want?

If that is showing them moral standards then there is no hope for us

But be honest do we really care?*

Thank you, everyone

A big thank you, to each and everyone of you who have helped in any way to raise funds for St Giles and Marie Curie in memory of Brian Wood. Their hospice at home service enabled him to spend his last days at home, and he wished to thank them for their support.

At the funeral, we requested donations, instead of flowers, and due to the generosity of colleagues, friends and family, £786 was raised.

A fundraising event was kicked off with a charity Zumba by Carrie Beckett and Ali Shaw (Zumba West Midlands) which raised over £700. This was followed by an evening of music provided by G&T disco and Singer Jade, combined with a tombola, raffle and auction, where another £1,000 was added to the 'pot'.

One of Brian's favourite songs was With a Little Help From My Friends, due to the words and sentiment, and this couldn't have been truer in this case.

Your donations, support and generosity allowed me to fulfil one of his last wishes, and I thank you once again. You did him proud!

The openness of pool has been lost

I have enjoyed Lichfield's parks and open spaces since I was a toddler.

Despite assurances from councillors and senior officers to the contrary we still have a "refurbished" play area in Beacon Park unfinished and not fit for purpose: injured youngsters; equipment out of commission; very old equipment re-used; a toddlers' play area full of boulders (what madness) and weeds; home made "no dogs" signs stuck on with tape; a cafe unavailable for (yet another) summer; unfinished toilets and security fencing adorning the perimeter.

The latest addition is a shabby makeshift sandpit.

The railings around Minster Pool create a physical and psychological barrier to the enjoyment of one of the city's most tranquil and beautiful places (neither small children, those in wheelchairs nor those sitting on the benches are able to view Pool Walk from Speakers' Corner as the railings form a solid screen and all must look through the railings at the pool wherever they are).

The sense of openness and closeness to the pool, memorial gardens and cathedral has been lost.

My photograph shows the old railings behind the new prior to their removal and shows the clear disparity in scale.

Lichfield citizens and visitors have been seriously misled. We have a right to expect better from councillors in whom we put our trust, and officers who are paid to deliver major projects such as these.

When are we going to have at least an acknowledgement that things have

The writer aged three at Minster Pool in 1967

The writer's photograph shows the new and old railings gone wrong? An apology and an explanation of what is being done to put things right? (it seems very little, far too slowly).

It seems that despite numerous concerns expressed over many months, all we are told is what a good job has been done by all concerned. Laughable!

The "consultation" we are told about was self-evidently ineffective. People are voicing concerns now and deserve to be listened to, not fobbed off.

Rather than telling us how many letters were sent out can we have a response to the concerns being raised now people are experiencing the finished results?

As a way forward, can I suggest:
● The council arrange a (widely publicised) open meeting to address concerns or carry out further consultation through your pages;

● Proposals are put forward to reduce the height of railings, at least directly in front of seating, to a scale which will restore a sense of closeness to the pool;

● Immediate clearance of the weeds and boulders from the toddlers' play area and placement of robust signage;

● Immediate reinstatement of the play equipment that has been removed, or replacement with safe, modern and robust alternatives;

● A council scrutiny review of the consultation process and of the management of the contract with results published in The Chronicle;

It seems the issues we are experiencing are due either to a lack of foresight or bad management, or both.

Are we expected to trust the same councillors and senior officers to oversee the Friarsgate Development?

If so, can we be assured by Nina Dawes that far better management of that project will take place?

Witness plea as arson attacks are linked

DETECTIVES are appealing for witnesses following two arson attacks in Cannock Wood.

Separate sites where drilling work is being carried out off New Hayes Road were targeted on consecutive Saturdays of July 23 and 30.

Crews were called to the first fire at 4.15pm on July 23 where around £7,000 of damage was caused to a Ford Connect van and plant machinery. A camera and printer were also stolen from a portable cabin.

The second incident occurred a week later, at around 3.25pm at a site around 100 metres away from the first. Some £24,000 of damage was caused to portable cabins and their contents, a fuel storage tank and the generator room.

Investigating officer DC Sally Dean said: "Although we are treating these as separate crimes, we are investigating potential links between them."

Witnesses should ring DC Dean on 01785 234205 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

No future plans for quarry bike racing

Huntington residents watch the bike event from over the fence

ORGANISERS say there are no immediate plans to stage further bike meetings at Cannock's Shoal Hill quarry.

World of Racing Events (WOR) went ahead with its planned meeting at the site in Huntington last weekend, despite fierce opposition from local residents and councillors.

Householders claim dust engulfed their homes and some remained indoors to avoid the noise.

Tom Follows, a director of Ingelwood Investments, the Stafford-based firm that owns the land, says that time will now be taken to reflect on the event before any discussion are made about further meetings.

Mr Follows said some of the route had been sabotaged, but added there were local people supporting the event. He said: "We weren't impressed with some of the opposition, we had some vandalism on the day of the race."

Mr Follows said the bikers behaved "impeccably" and no future decisions will be rushed.

Complaints

"There are things we are not 100 per cent happy about and will be looking to improve," he said.

South Staffordshire Council received around 50 complaints from residents.

Spokesman Jamie Angus said: "Officers worked throughout the weekend, monitoring the event closely for dust levels, noise and safety."

"We'll be discussing our concerns with the owners of the land and the organisers to avoid any repetition."

Huntington councillor Jeff Ashley said: "Some of the area has been heavily rutted and quite horrendous clouds of dust have covered the village."

"I have had several calls from people who said the noise was so bad that they couldn't go outside."

It's rumoured injured Jessie J will perform from a chair

Tom, Nathan, Siva, Max and Jay of The Wanted who are playing at the V Festival at Weston Park this weekend

Stars set to shine on festival stage

SELL-out extravaganza V Festival is bursting with chart topping acts as the annual event touches down in Weston Park this weekend.

More than 80 artists are lined up to perform on only four stages in just 48 hours at what promises to be the biggest and best event yet.

Top of the V bill are rap superstar Eminem and The Arctic Monkeys.

The acts couldn't be more different, and while Eminem kicks off the first of a host of UK concerts, The Arctic's guarantee to dish up a huge slice of indie vibes for rockers on day two.

Knockout

Headlining the second bill is two more of the industry's biggest names, Rihanna and Plan B.

As the Barbadian R n' B artist, who famously collaborated with Eminem on Love The Way You Lie, prepares for her first gig in Weston Park, Plan B is back for the second time following last year's knockout set.

Also gracing the Virgin Media stage is The Script, Manic Street Preachers, Scouting for Girls, Ellie Goulding, The American rapper Eminem headlines the proceedings on Saturday night

Kaiser Chiefs, Lost Prophets and Bruno Mars. Jessie J is also on the bill.

That's before you even get to the 4 Music stage, the arena stage or the undercover tent.

The star-studded weekend, which first came to Staffordshire back in 1999, has more sponsors than ever before providing a host of other attractions for the thousands of festival goers to lap up. Campers can enter the site from 8am on Friday and day ticket holders from 12pm on Saturday and Sunday.

Museum educator Laura Graham at the Bugs Life workshop

Workshop has them all buzzing

A CHILDREN'S workshop in Cannock Chase was buzzing with activity as more than 200 people turned up to take part.

Youngsters were kept busy making bumblebee and ladybird toppers, decorative bug plant sticks and butterfly pegs to brighten their rooms.

Museum staff had no inkling that the £1 drop-in session would prove so popular as no booking was necessary – and they were delighted by the turnout.

Some 225 young visitors and their parents took part in the four-hour Bugs Life workshop at The Museum of Cannock Chase in Valley Road, Hednesford.

The workshop was one of a number of holiday activities taking place at the popular tourist attraction.

Scrub control work at nature site starts

URGENT work to a popular nature spot was getting under way this week costing thousands of pounds.

Staffordshire County Council is to spend around £5,000 to control scrub invasion at Norton Bog – a site popular with wild birds.

The site is part of the nationally important Chasewater and Southern Staffordshire Coalfield Heaths Site of Special Scientific Interest and recently opened as a country park.

It has both remnants of original heathland and newly created heath on colliery spoil, the latter forming a central mound within the site.

Now birch and willow scrub has begun to invade this heathland and will quickly smother the scarce heathland plants unless action is taken.

County councillor Mark Winnington, cabinet member for the environment, said: "We are keen to ensure this new country park lives up to its designation as an important wildlife site."

Scarce

"We have a duty to ensure such key areas are properly protected and managed and Natural England, the body that advises on the management of nationally important wildlife sites, has approved these planned works."

The slow-growing heathland and grassland areas on the mound are ideal for scarce ground nesting birds such as skylark and lapwing. Both these species are on the International Union for Conservation of Nature's red list of birds of conservation concern, where populations have fallen in the UK by 50 per cent in the last 25 years.

Contractors will be working to remove the scrub by treating small shrubs and cutting saplings invading heath on the mound.

The council says it will help the heather to survive, as well as the yellow vetches found along track edges that are the food plant of the rare dingy skipper butterfly.

Skylark and lapwing breed in open habitats with short vegetation, and the scrub could rapidly displace them if not removed.

Sale of rare Land Rovers

SOME of the rarest Land Rovers in the world are going up for sale in Cannock next month.

John Craddock, boss of Britain's largest independent Land Rover dealership, will auction the vehicles to a worldwide audience.

Mr Craddock discovered the vehicles when in Norway and will auction them off on September 18 at his Cannock dealership.

His collection includes a 1958 Land Rover Cuthbertson snow track and a 1967 Land Rover Lomas Ambulance, featured in Heartbeat.

Blaze started by barbecue

A DISCARDED barbecue started a blaze across a stretch of woodland in Cannock Chase.

Firefighters were called to Hazelslade Chase at 8pm on Monday of last week to reports of a fire. Crews spent 90 minutes dousing the flames, with an area of 160 sq ft affected.

Firefighter Jim Salt said: "We urge people to ensure fires are out when using disposable barbecues."

Warning over stolen plates

A POLICE chief in Cannock is urging motorists to have anti-theft screws fitted on their vehicle registration plates.

Chief Inspector Carl Ratcliffe warns that thieves are stealing car number plates and using them to avoid being identified after making off without paying for fuel at petrol stations.

Trains 'could be saved' if line electrified

TRANSPORT bosses have called for changes to the train line between Rugeley and Walsall to stop the proposed loss of two rush-hour services.

The 6.21am Rugeley to Birmingham and 7.39am Hednesford to Birmingham, both of which travel through Walsall and Cannock - could be axed as part of a shake-up on the Chase Line. But transport authority Centro said electrifying the route between Walsall and Rugeley would allow more trains to travel along and remove the need for a reduction in services.

Spokesman Steve Swingle said: "We have been actively pressing Network Rail for the electrification of this line which would bring a number of benefits."

"At the moment the line is electrified from Birmingham to Walsall but not from Walsall to Rugeley, meaning only diesel trains can operate north of Walsall."

"This means a mixed fleet of electric and diesel trains is required to operate the service but there is currently a shortage of diesel trains nationally."

"London Midland needs some of the diesels running on this line to meet even higher passenger demand on other commuter routes in the West Midlands."

"If the whole line was electrified then only one fleet of electric units, of which enough trains are available, would be required and London Midland would not need to make a reduction."

"Train operator London Midland said it was still in consultations."

Under the plans, the 6.21am and the 7.39am would be replaced by services leaving Rugeley at 5.55am and 8.06am. Five diesels would be relocated.

Network Rail, which is responsible for the country's tracks, said it was in talks with Centro and London Midland about electrification but chances were slim.

£1.6m relocation

AUTOMOTIVE remanufacturer ATP Industries Group has completed a £1.6 million relocation to Cannock Wood Industrial Estate after selling its original site in Hednesford to St Modwen last year.

ATP took on the former Marshalls concrete manufacturing plant in Cannock Wood, refurbishing the existing 47,000 sq ft facility and adding a 50,000 sq ft new build element.

The project was managed by Birmingham-based Fusion Building Consultancy. Director Nick Young said: "The main challenge was the time constraints in relocating a business with heavy plant and machinery whilst ensuring the normal flow of business for what is a highly respected global company."

Chase car sales Ltd

The success story continues...

Hednesford Town Regeneration - Town Centre Progress that started a new chapter in the Chase Car Sales Ltd success story.

It was a very sad day recently for Craig Tarr and Dave Salter to finally see their old premises on Rugeley Road demolished. They vacated the premises in March 2006 and the site should have been cleared that May but due to land assembly problems with the developers it's only just been done, which has added to a lot of confusion with customers over that period and although at the time Craig and Dave were unsure of the future, every cloud has a silver lining. Since that day Chase Car Sales have gone from strength to strength.

Chase Car Sales Ltd was founded in April 1998 by Craig and Dave who have more than 65 years experience between them. They worked at main dealers and used car supermarkets before deciding to set up their own used car dealership and now they are one of the largest independent dealers in the area.

Chase Car Sales Ltd had originally just set up with only 20 cars in stock but over the years it has grown steadily and now has more than 80 top quality used cars in stock. Craig and Dave's secret to success has always been based on their company motto: "NO GIMMICKS JUST CARS THAT COST YOU LESS!!" They built up their huge customer base by word of mouth, recommendations, local advertising and repeat business which speaks for itself these days, and they are now in their 13th year of trading with more than 8,000 sold cars to satisfied customers.

In March 2006 they relocated to new larger premises just a few minutes away from their old site towards Rugeley due to the Hednesford Regeneration Scheme. The new facilities offered so much more. They are on the junction of the A460 Rugeley Road and the B5013 Station Road, Hednesford and have undergone a major refurbishment to bring the premises up to date.

Craig and Dave stated "Chase Car Sales has been very successful here in Hednesford and we didn't want to move far, but at the same time wanted to improve things and offer the very best in customer service that we could. We are very proud of what we have achieved and now five years later at the new premises we can say that all our customers old and new have said that the new premises offer main dealer quality but with the personnel service where you deal direct with the owners and it's such a major improvement on the old premises everybody likes it".

Chase Car Sales stock all makes and models, from small to large, prestige, performance, 4x4's, estates and MPVs. They try to cater for all needs and pockets. All vehicles are hand picked by Craig and Dave themselves to ensure quality always comes first, the majority of vehicles are sourced from Main Dealers and are mainly privately owned with low mileage and service history.

All cars come complete with a valet, pre-delivery inspection, service and MOT prior to collection, all of which are carried out at their on-site service facility. All vehicles are sold with their own parts and labour guarantee for added peace of mind, and any problems you simply bring the car back to them. No need for third party involvement or the need for authorisation from a warranty company. Craig and Dave like to keep things simple and straightforward.

You can purchase your car by cash, debit or credit card, all major cards accepted, or take advantage of the various finance options on offer. With or without a deposit and up to five years to pay. When you are looking to purchase your next car call down to Chase Car Sales, you'll find no sharp salesmen, no gimmicks, just quality cars at lower prices and Craig and Dave to help you choose.

Police move to stop garage booze sales

At the Meynell Ingram Arms, chef Keith Parton, country sports enthusiast Peter Kenyon-Smith and landlady Guy Wallis celebrate the start of the game season

Pub serves up a tasty start to grouse season

A PUB chef has come up with a tasty new dish to celebrate the start of the grouse shooting season.

Keith Parton, from the Meynell Ingram Arms, Hoar Cross, near Rugeley, is presenting the new game dish of duck with monkfish as his signature meal.

It's the Glorious 12th and grouse shooters are targeting a bumper season aimed at boosting rural businesses.

Keith said: "Fish with meat is hardly new as a combination dish, however its the sauces that help to create the blend.

"I'm sure diners won't mind some culinary licence in presenting a different partnership on a plate.

"We will of course be also serving traditional game dishes from September."

Local country sports enthusiast Peter Kenyon-Smith will be helping to supply his favourite pub with game.

POLICE have stepped in to stop a petrol station in Rugeley from selling alcohol around the clock, seven days a week.

Officers say that granting a drinks licence to the Malthurst service station would attract crime and disorder and make the lives of local residents a misery.

The police argue that the business in Western Springs Road is primarily a Jet petrol station and is therefore excluded under the law from selling alcohol.

However, the applicant, Malthouse Retail Limited, based in Epsom, Surrey, insists it is a convenience store first and foremost, which also sells petrol and diesel.

Police have written to the firm asking for evidence but have not received a reply.

The firm wants to sell alcohol 24 hours a day, from Monday to Sunday inclusive. It has also applied to sell late-night refreshment every day between the hours of 11pm and 5am.

Nuisance

Cannock Chase Council's planning department has also objected on the grounds that selling alcohol would encourage public nuisance.

Police licensing officer Jennifer Mellor said the applicant refused to send her proof of the type of business it is. Instead the firm claimed that the licence holder would monitor the main use of the premises.

If, over a six-month period, the cash receipts showed that the main business was that of a garage, the sale of alcohol would stop "until such time as the data demonstrates that the primary use is not that of a garage."

Mrs Mellor said the authority had to decide whether to grant a drinks licence without any proof of the main use of the premises. The matter was being decided at a licensing meeting this week.

Dance will be in aid of boardwalk

STAFFORDSHIRE Wildlife Trust still needs to raise £30,000 to pay for the recent replacement of a boardwalk at its Wolsley bridge HQ.

A boardwalk barn dance has been arranged at the Wolsley Centre on September 10 at 6pm. It will include live music and a hog roast with tickets £20 per person.

The Staffordshire Aggregates Levy Grant Scheme recently helped the trust to raise over half the money needed to replace the 20-year-old boardwalk.

For £20 or more people can become a plank sponsor and receive a certificate to recognise their support.

Names will also be entered on the sponsors' register to be displayed at the centre.

The trust will recognise those with names being marked on a plaque at the entrance to the new boardwalk and an invitation to the official opening event.

Match called off after changing rooms raided

A FOOTBALL match at Wyrley Juniors new home was postponed when burglars rifled through the oppositions team's changing room.

Burglars snatched hundreds of pounds worth of mobile phones, cash and bank cards as the players warmed up for their match at Long Lane, Essington.

The match was called off when visiting AFC Smethwick players discovered the raiders had ransacked the building and fled with their haul ahead of the scheduled West Midlands Regional League game.

Wyrley boss Phil McGuinness said the two teams were returning to the changing rooms after the warm-up when they noticed the away changing room had been ransacked.

"Unfortunately they hadn't secured their door and someone took advantage," the 32-year-old said. "It was opportunistic. We locked our changing room but Smethwick left them open."

They went through whatever was there – clothing, bags, the lot, then just must have got out of here as quickly as possible.

Teams

The teams arrived for the game on Saturday at around 2.15pm before changing and heading out to the pitch. The thieves struck within the next half-hour.

Wyrley Juniors FC, which has 45 teams, was forced to install extra CCTV to protect its new £1.15million community clubhouse earlier this year.

The building was targeted by yobs in a spate of break-ins after builders started the project in January.

Bronwyn Sutcliffe, aged 13, arrives for the beginning of Doctor Dolittle rehearsals at The Prince of Wales Centre

Treading boards for animal magic

BUDDING stage stars in Cannock have been offered their chance to hit the big time by taking part in a one-off production of Doctor Dolittle.

The Prince of Wales Centre, in Church Street, is running its annual summer workshop from this week until August 26, for youngsters aged seven to 16. The workshop will end with a theatre performance on Saturday, August 27.

It will be the first time the show has been performed in Cannock and promises to be an all-singing, all-dancing affair complete with special effects.

Corners

Based on the stories of Hugh Lofting, the musical tells the tale of a wacky but kind doctor who can talk to the animals. The show takes audience members on a journey from the small English town of Puddleby-in-the-Marsh to the far corners of the world.

Dr Dolittle was made in to a film in 1967, with Rex Harrison in the lead role. It was remade in 1998, starring Eddie Murphy.

Auditions for lead roles took place on Monday August 6, when participants were asked to prepare a song that they can perform with an iPod or CD track.

Tickets for the final performance are £6. For more information, call the theatre's box office on 01543 578762.

Nomination on same day as Ofsted praise Nursery worker in line for a top award

A NURSERY worker from Rugeley was nominated for a national award on the same day her workplace received a glowing Ofsted report.

Springfields Day Nursery, in Beacon Street, Lichfield, picked up Ofsted 'outstanding' status on the very same day that staff member Gemma Matyus was announced as Newcomer of the Year for the annual Nursery World Magazine Awards.

Helen Marquise, manager of the nursery, which is part of the Asquith Nurseries group, said: "We are all on cloud nine here."

"We have worked so hard to reach the top of the Ofsted rankings and now Gemma Matyus, one of our nursery nurses, has been told she is in the finals of the annual Nursery World Magazine Awards, with a chance to win the Newcomer of the Year national title in the autumn.

"I think she must be our good luck charm. To win the Ofsted recognition as 'outstanding' in all areas is our crowning glory."

"This is such a great morale booster for the team and it is superb news for parents too."

Gemma, aged, 22, who lives in Cambrian Lane, Rugeley, said: "It was a wonderful surprise to come in and discover the nursery had won a major accreditation and a big shock for me to be told I was shortlisted at the Nursery World Awards."

"I guess I am a bit of a perfectionist so I like to make quite sure everything I do is done to the very best of my ability."

Parents

"I am very happy doing with my current tasks but I am ambitious and I hope one day to be able to become an Asquith day nursery manager."

Mrs Marquise added: "Gemma only started with us last September and works with two and three-year-olds. Parents have been very quick to praise her dedication and professionalism with the little ones in her care."

"All her work is of a very high standard and she is already qualified at level three with a CACHE Diploma in Childcare and Education."

Nursery nurse: Gemma Matyus, aged 22, from Rugeley, is in the running for Best Newcomer in a national award. She is pictured with: 1 to r: Lucas Thompson, aged four, Emily Bonner, three and Emelia Johnson, four

Traffic chaos after roundabout crash

A LORRY overturned on a busy Cannock roundabout causing traffic misery for hundreds of motorists.

The 40ft truck had almost reached its Cannock base when, it is alleged, the driver lost control on the Rising Sun island at Norton Canes and the vehicle keeled over.

The driver, believed to be in his 60s, escaped without serious injury but about £12,000 worth of damage was done to the truck, owned by Pentalver Cannock.

The vehicle was removed by a recovery company but traffic tailbacks lasted into the evening rush-hour.

The lorry overturned at around 2pm last Wednesday. It was carrying a tank inside a sealed container which was undamaged in the incident.

However, the cab is thought to be a write-off after the front off-side was smashed in.

Keith Whitehouse, assistant depot manager for Pentalver, shipping container specialists based in Orbital

Fire crews examine the crashed lorry that caused commuter traffic delays. Way, said only one vehicle was involved in the accident.

"The driver had picked up his load in Rotherham and was almost home when the lorry's just gone straight over on its side," he said.

"There was some fuel spillage but that was quickly cleared up by the fire service."

"The driver went to hospital suffering from some cuts and a pain in his neck but apart from that he's all right."

Firefighters from Aldridge and Bloxwich helped to release the driver through the windscreens. He was taken to Walsall Manor Hospital.

Motorists on the westbound A5, headed towards Lichfield, suffered the worst tailbacks with traffic on the A452 heading to Brownhills also affected.

Bids for Winehouse mementos double

AMY Whitehouse memorabilia being sold by a Staffordshire businessman has received bids on eBay of more than double the asking price.

Andy Holland, who runs Cannock-based Autographed Aid, is selling a limited number of framed mementos signed by the tragic star.

Mr Holland, from Hednesford, has amassed a collection of items signed by the singer over the years and wants to sell some of them to support the charity set up in her name by her family.

He has created 16 x 20in collages each containing a copy of her best-selling album Back to Black and an autographed HMV promo card.

Interested parties should call Autographed Aid on 01543-506886 and leave their details. Orders will be treated on a 'first come first served' basis.

Backlog of work at homes of disabled

COUNCIL chiefs want to wipe out an ongoing backlog of work to adapt the homes of disabled residents in Cannock Chase.

The district authority spends around £1m a year making alterations. "But director of environmental health Steve Shilcock said a significant cash boost was needed to deal with a permanent backlog of work."

He said the most expensive adaptations involved the homes of disabled children and costs in the region of £30,000-£40,000. A basic shower room conversion is said to cost around £5,000.

Councillor Muriel Davis, cabinet member for health and wellbeing, said: "I'm sure we can do that for less."

Mr Shilcock said he was to find out the number of people on the waiting list in Cannock Chase and estimate the amount it would cost to clear it for the next meeting of the health and wellbeing committee

Manager Lindsey France, centre, with staff members Nicky Blood and Matt Witheridge at Missoula's grand opening

Fresh new look for town venue

A CANNOCK town centre bar has re-opened with a new name after a £185,000 re-fit.

The former Stones bar in Market Place has become one of the Stonegate Pub Company's Missoula bars.

Manager Lindsey France, who has been at the bar and restaurant for five years, said they had also taken on eight extra part-time staff.

The bar opened last week after being closed for more than a fortnight.

"We have got a new outside smoking garden, an enhanced sound system, VIP booths for parties and an enhanced outside area. The toilets have also been overhauled as part of the project," said Lyndsey.

The number of covers on the food side has been increased by 50. "We will be having regular entertainment nights on Mondays and we are looking to have sets from high profile DJs."

The Cut Up Boys from Ministry of Sound will be visited on Saturday.

Missoula will be open from 9.30am to 11pm except on Thursday and Fridays when it opens to 2am and Saturdays when it can open until 3am.

There are 10 other Missoula bars across the UK. Locally there are branches in Newcastle-under-Lyme and Birmingham.

Pub is put up for sale

A CANNOCK pub that closed in the wake of claims it was used for sex parties is being sold off.

Enterprise Inns has put the Crystal Fountain in St John's Road on the market through agents Fleurets.

They are seeking £200,000 for the freehold, including contents. The pub has been closed since the end of May after licensee Kevin and Kat Scott left.

There were claims parties at the Crystal Fountain were advertised on swingers' websites, with allegations sending shock waves through the community.

Enterprise Inns spokeswoman Vicky Averis said the pub had since been available for let but is now on the open market. The pub is Grade II listed and dates from 1937.

£400 reward is offered by club

Yobs destroy bowling green

MEMBERS of a village bowling club are offering a £400 reward after their green was wrecked by vandals for the second time in a year.

Littleton Colliery Bowls Club in Huntingdon is offering the reward to catch the offenders who threw around five litres of motorbike oil over the pristine green.

The attack has left half of the ground unplayable and plans to get local schoolchildren involved with playing games on the turf have been thrown into chaos.

Club secretary Ted Platz, aged 66, said: "It has caused us a major problem. This is now the second time it's happened this year.

"We're still able to bowl on part of it, but we were in the process of organising coaching sessions for local schoolchildren and we've had to cancel those sessions."

A similar attack happened in January this year, but the club did not report the incident as members were worried that it might encourage more vandalism.

"We think someone might have a grudge against us, the club, but I don't know why," said Mr Platz.

The secretary said the club's 60-plus members were keen to let people know they were taking the damage seriously and discussions are being made to install CCTV. Anyone with information is asked to call Staffordshire Police on 0300 123 4455.

Seal of approval for leading window firm

DESPITE the shrinking economy, one local company has grown to become one of the leading manufacturers of uPVC windows, doors and conservatories in the West Midlands.

Energy seal, based in Planetary Road, Wednesfield, has a 20-strong workforce, all of whom strive to be the very best in the industry in all areas.

This dedication to quality begins with excellent manufacturing of their window system, through to excellent customer service.

Family-run

The company is a family-run business with two brothers, David and Richard Carter, at the helm. Director of sales, David, says: "We aim to give our customers the very best service the industry can offer."

"Through being involved directly with sales, we can develop a special relationship with customers the second their phone rings. Then, when our customers become confident they are buying their windows, doors or conservatories off the right company, we then get the project underway."

"Starting with a free technical survey of the work being carried out, we then project-manage everything from that point on."

"In our conservatories range we have many different options for our customers."

"We provide the finished article, starting with the base, brickwork, erecting the uPVC frames

and roof, right down to fitting electrics, tiling the floor and fitting vertical blinds.

"In our showroom, we have six full-sized conservatories fully-fitted with fixtures and fittings to show our customers exactly what they're buying."

"Energyseal is also looking to create more jobs in the local area."

Richard, trade director, adds: "When we started manufacturing, we had three employees. Three years on we now employ 10 fabricators, two fitting teams and six office staff."

"We are always looking to expand our business so we can create new jobs for local people. Because we offer such an excellent service, most of our work comes from recommendations so this gives us the opportunity to grow. We also supply to the trade industry."

"If you are interested in buying any of our extensive range of windows, doors or conservatories, call us on 01902 866000 and one of our friendly advisers will be happy to help with your enquiry."

"Alternatively, pop into our showroom for a free no obligation quote."

Customers can choose from a wide range of conservatories in the firm's showroom

AROUND THE CLUBS

Collection helps front-line soldiers

CANNOCK TOWNSWOMEN

CHAIRWOMAN Hilda Hathaway welcomed members and four visitors to the July meeting, which was full of interest.

She informed members that there is still some money to come in from the charity Solstice Walk in Lichfield and it is expected to reach around £400.

The collection of items for 3 Mercian Stafford has resulted in 72 Jiffy-bags being filled and these will be on their way to front-line soldiers.

Expressions of thanks were made via Leslie Wilkes to all who had contributed and said that items would be well received. Leslie did a play-back of the sound effects and members' attempts at 'putting on' an episode of The Archers. This was highly amusing.

Delegate Gillian Loftus reported that three members went to the national annual meeting at Birmingham in June. It was attended by

Princess Anne who stayed the whole morning and said how much she enjoyed it.

July's speaker was Audrey Hall, who gave an enthusiastic and highly entertaining account of her experience in Taking Shirley Valentine to Greece. She visited London in 1988 and saw the one-woman play starring Pauline Collins. She was so inspired that she (with the help of her loyal husband) later put on a charity show in Lichfield and some years later in Skiathos. We all came away from the meeting with smiles on our faces.

The next meeting will be on September 20 at 7.30pm at St. Luke's School, New Penkridge Road, Cannock.

Carnival parade joy with best float prize

CANNOCK LIONS

THE first month of its Lionistic year was a busy one with new president Doug Smith taking his first meeting.

The club had a stall at Cannock Carnival. Along with the Soroptimists, we decorated a float for the procession and won the Best Dressed Float prize.

Staffordshire Fire service invited us to its new station open day the following week where we distributed our Lions Message in a Bottle, one of our new projects.

Every month a few members helped Newlife with their jewellery sale. Cannock Lions also won two awards from the District.

One was for gaining the most members in a year and the other for service to the community. Our social this month was at the Party in the Park in Cannock. A great start to a great Cannock Lions new year.

If you want to find out

Plenty of sales at break-up meeting

CHASE TERRACE LADIES

WE were pleased to welcome back Kerry Davis for our last meeting before the summer break.

She brought along her usual delightful array of greeting cards and quality stationery. Kerry is an independent trader for Phoenix Trading

She made a donation for the club to give to charity from her evening's takings.

Bernadette Swanwick was also welcomed back with a large display of jewellery, all of which was on offer at amazing sale prices.

We were able to choose from bracelets, necklaces and earrings. Trading was brisk between the two ladies. Bernadette donated a beautiful necklace as an additional raffle prize.

To end the evening there was a quiz on Coronation Street and other subjects.

One thing is for sure, we now know who the soap addicts are! The winning team received a large bar of chocolate.

Refreshments followed and the raffle was drawn.

Running

Our next meeting will be on September 8 at 7.30pm, in the meeting room at Sankeys Corner Library.

The Greenwood Ladies will be running an auction in aid of St Giles Hospice.

This promises to be a fun evening which will also raise a sizeable donation and we hope that members will bring along their unwanted items.

Ball raises £7,500 for our troops

A CHARITY ball to honour Rugeley soldiers raised more than £7,500 for British troops.

The third Help for Heroes event, hosted by Carolyn Everall, was held at Power Station sports and social club.

Carolyn, of Etching Hill, was joined by Cannock Chase Conservative MP Aidan Burley to welcome more than 120 people to the summer fundraiser which has collected £20,000 for Help for Heroes over the past three years.

The chairman of Rugeley town council, Councillor Neil Stanley also turned out to honour the soldiers and presented two special awards to acknowledge two servicemen currently on their first tour.

Laurie Rowley Johnson picked up the first honour on behalf of her son Private Ashley Rowley Johnson, while marine Joe Allan collected the second for Corporal James Molineux.

Brilliant

Carolyn, aged 51, whose son Christopher is preparing to return to Afghanistan next year, said: "It was a brilliant night and despite being smaller than the previous years, we once again got to recognise our local heroes and the work they do for our country."

"A big thank you to everyone who came including the Power Station for giving us the venue free of charge and C Residential estate agents for its generous donation."

The money raised helps provide equipment and services for specialist military hospitals with some funds also going to smaller trusts which assist in the after care of soldiers when they return home.

Marine Joe Allan with Monique McPeak from C Residential estate agents and their £1,900 donation

Carolyn Everall's son Christopher, far left, with supporting marines and their families

Accepting an honorary award for Private Ashley Johnson is his fiancée Emma Blake more and his mum Laurie with Councillor Neil Stanley and MP Aidan Burley.

Make a date with the Calendar Girls

THE ORIGINAL Calendar Girls will tell their remarkable story when they come to Cannock for two nights in October. It all started back in 1999 when, to commemorate the death of John Baker, his wife Angela and several other Yorkshire ladies decided to make an alternative Women's Institute calendar – in the nude.

John died from non-Hodgkin's lymphoma and it was hoped the calendar would generate funds for the hospital where he had been treated.

Eleven years later and, via several best-selling calendars, a hugely-successful stage show and an award-winning film, £3million has been raised for Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research.

The girls' astonishing tale will be told at the Cannock Prince of Wales Centre on October 17 and 18, with both shows starting at 7.30pm. Tickets are £11 and can be booked by calling the box office on 01543 578762.

Tune in with keyboard star

RENNOWNED keyboardist and musician to the stars Dave Smith is making a special appearance in Burntwood tonight for a one-off concert.

Smith has travelled the world in a 30-year career both as a performer and in his role of designing many top-selling keyboards including the Roland Atelier he'll be playing on the night.

Over the years he has had the honour of being musical director for the likes of Morecambe and Wise, Tony Hancock and Ken Dodd. More recently Smith has given backing to Jim Bowen of Bullseye fame, as well as the three-tenor singing group Tenorissimo which sees him touring throughout the UK and on cruise ships.

His concert will take in music from John Williams film scores as well as modern love songs with a fleeting look back at the era of music hall.

The concert is being presented by Burntwood Music for All Group and takes place at the Burntwood Memorial Institute Hall, Rugeley Road, at 7.30pm. Tickets are £5 on the door.

City concert for folk star Jackie

FOLK star Jackie Oates has been booked for a concert in Lichfield this autumn. Jackie, whose family is from Church Eaton, near Stafford, will be playing at the Guildhall on October 12 at 8pm.

The singer and fiddle player, who is the sister of Jim Moray, will be releasing her new album, Saturnine, on September 12. Tickets are £13, £11 for members and £7 for students from www.lichfieldarts.org.uk

The concert will form part of Lichfield Arts' 2011-2012 programme.

Top tribute band are ready to rock

THE SELF-STYLED best Kings of Leon tribute act in the UK is coming to Hednesford later this month.

Kings ov Leon play at The Tackeroo pub, on Bracken Close, on August 27.

Dean Lanza leads the band as Caleb Followill, Kings of Leon's frontman, having played in numerous bands including Marlo who won BBC talent show Get Your Act Together in 1999.

Brothers Dan and Mark Eyden are guitarists Jared and Matthew Followill, while Ant Wheeler is drummer Nathan Followill.

Their set will include numerous hits from the Kings of Leon catalogue including number one chart-topper Sex on Fire, Use Somebody, Molly's Chambers, California Waiting, Four Kicks, The Bucket, Radioactive and On Call.

Tennessee rockers Kings of Leon formed in 1999 and first came to prominence four years later with their debut album Youth and Young Manhood, which reached No. 3 in the UK chart.

Follow-up Aha Shake Heartbreak, released a year later, cemented their place on the indie-rock scene in the UK, before Because of the Times became their first number one album in 2007.

The group added worldwide commercial success to critical acclaim when Sex on Fire became one of the biggest selling singles of 2008, eventually becoming the second most downloaded single ever in the UK.

Release

Fourth album Only by the Night was the biggest to date and went five times platinum in the US, while last year's release Come Around Sundown was their third to top the UK chart.

Tickets for Kings ov Leon are £6 and the band will be on stage from 9pm.

LEADING housebuilder Taylor Wimpey is offering home-hunters the ideal opportunity to take their next step up the property ladder – by choosing a brand new four-bedroom detached house at Broadhurst Gardens.

The spacious 'Draycott' family-size home at this sought-after development in Huntington, Cannock, is currently available with a choice of Taylor Wimpey incentives, to help homeowners cut out all the hassle and stress of selling an existing property.

"With part exchange or easymover, home-hunters with a property to sell have yet another reason to choose a brand new home right here at Broadhurst Gardens."

"Without any of the hassle of selling a home to deal with, our customers can enjoy a stress-free move to the home of their dreams much sooner than they might otherwise have thought."

The 'Draycott', priced from only £199,995, is a traditional family-sized home featuring a large lounge, a contemporary fitted kitchen and a separate dining room, which opens through French doors to the private rear garden. A handy guest cloakroom is also located off the entrance hallway. Site manager earns award

Site manager John Curtiss at Canalside Wharf

TAYLOR Wimpey has cause to celebrate after the site manager at Canalside Wharf, its popular development in Weston, Staffordshire, scooped a prestigious Prize in the Job Quality Award from the National House-Building Council (NHBC).

Seeing off strong competition from more than 13,000 entries, John Curtiss is one of 65 Taylor Wimpey site managers around the UK to receive the honour in recognition of their dedication to maintaining exceptional standards in housebuilding.

Presented following a stringent judging process involving a number of NHBC inspections throughout the year, the Quality Awards also provide homebuyers with the assurance that the winning development delivers top-quality homes and excellent customer care.

John says: "The whole team at Canalside Wharf take great pride in what they do and we work extremely hard to ensure the homes we build are completed to the highest possible standards."

"I'm delighted to have won this award and to have been recognised by the industry in this way."

Ian Smith, managing director of Taylor Wimpey North Midlands, adds: "Our commitment to maintaining the highest levels of quality, service and customer care has ensured that we continue to be an NHBC award-winning housebuilder year after year. John's award is thoroughly deserved and we'll all be supporting him as he progresses through to the regional heats of the Prize in the Job awards, and hopefully the grand final."

The only awards scheme that recognises the significant contribution of site managers in new home construction, Prize in the Job has been instrumental in raising the build quality of new homes in the UK for over three decades.

Development

The regional events take place in the autumn, with the Supreme Awards gala final being held in January 2012, the NHBC's 75th anniversary year.

Situated in a peaceful location on the banks of the Trent and Mersey Canal in Weston, Canalside Wharf offers a selection of high-quality homes to suit buyers in a range of circumstances.

One-bedroom apartments are priced from just £99,000 at the development, three-bedroom houses from only £172,950 and four-bedroom properties from just £259,995.

The former farming community of Weston offers a range of everyday local amenities including a post office, a pub, a primary school, children's playground, a doctor's surgery and a village hall all just a short walk away – plus the advantages of canalside living, with relaxing towpath walks and cycling on the doorstep.

Further information about the new homes at Canalside Wharf is available by visiting the Sales Centre, located off Saltworts Lane, Weston, and open from 11am to 5pm, Thursday to Monday, or by calling the sales executive on 0845 026 3780.

Choose the Fairfield for a far easier move

HOME-hunters worried about the stress of selling their existing property can enjoy an easy move to the brand new four-bedroom 'Fairfield' at Taylor Wimpey's Levett Grange development in Rugeley.

That's because the leading house-builder's Part Exchange or easy-mover schemes are available with selected 'Fairfield' plots at this stunning Staffordshire development – making the hassle of dealing with the property market a thing of the past!

What's more, home-hunters hoping to choose this popular design can visit the sumptuous 'Fairfield' showhome, now open at Levett Grange, to get a taste of the wonderful lifestyle opportunities on offer.

Carl Cooke, Regional Sales and Marketing Director for Taylor Wimpey, says: "The 'Fairfield' is a magnificent home which maximises space and comfort across two floors and is perfect for growing families or executive couples.

"And with our amazing Part Exchange or easymover initiatives on offer, there's even more reason for property-seekers to choose the 'Fairfield' as their dream home."

The 'Fairfield' is priced from only £249,995 is a traditional-style double-fronted home boasting attractive bay windows to the separate dining room and a spacious lounge at the front of the property.

At the rear, a fabulous semi-open-plan kitchen/family/breakfast room spans the entire width of the property and has access to the garden through French doors.

Upstairs, the landing leads to the master bedroom with en-suite shower room, a main bathroom and three further bedrooms.

With part exchange, customers are offered a fixed price for their current home based on the average of independent valuations, so they know exactly how much they have to spend on their new property and can relax in their existing place until their brand new house is ready to move into. Alternatively, with easymover, Taylor Wimpey finds a buyer for the customer's current property in an average of just five weeks, although many see their home sold within a fortnight – plus the housebuilder can even pay the estate agency fees.

An artist's impression of a typical Fairfield property, available at Levett Grange, Rugeley

Levett Grange lies within easy reach of a host of amenities in Rugeley.

Property-seekers hoping to take advantage of part exchange or easymover by choosing the 'Fairfield' at Levett Grange should visit the Sales Centre, located in Wolsley Road, Rugeley, WS15 2EU, and open Thursday to Monday from 11am to 5pm. The Sales Executive can be contacted on 0845 239 2123.

Over the last decade, thanks in part to TV Property Shows such as BBC's "Homes under the Hammer", selling by auction has become very popular. There are certain types of properties more suitable to be sold at auction than by normal means. These include:

- Properties in disrepair or in need of modernisation
- Investment Properties
- Keenly Priced Homes
- Unconventional properties that are difficult to value but are often bought because of their unique and distinctive style like country cottages
- Any properties that are in high demand
- Parcels of land and building plots

Entries now being taken for the Auction to be held in Stafford on October 20th, 2011. Closing date for entries 2nd September 2011

XF comes out fighting with new diesel engine

TALK about fighting with one hand tied behind your back. The smallest Jaguar saloon has spent its life so far without the engine most buyers wanted.

Now they can have it – and banish thoughts of BMWs and Audis to the other side of the company car park fence.

Say a big, warm hello to the Jaguar XF 2.2 litre diesel.

By Ian Donaldson

When the XF was launched in 2008 its svelte non-retro lines were a bit of a gamble for a company that traded for decades on hints of Labrador and gentlemen's clubs.

The gamble paid off, with interest, and XFs are now a common sight on UK roads. Still worth a look as they pass, though.

Now, for 2011 comes an XF that's been mildly refreshed on the outside, with smoother lights front and rear and a new dashboard, more switches and reprofiled seats inside.

Much more important, there's now the choice of a smaller diesel engine. It's quite closely related to the unit you'll find in some Mondeos but has been reworked for its role in a Jag and bolted to a new automatic gearbox with no fewer than eight forward speeds.

Priced from a competitive £30,950, it will also appeal to company car drivers who have to take notice of its tailpipe pollution if they're not to be stung by the taxman. Road tax at just £125 won't hurt either.

Jaguar thinks so many buyers will go for this smallest diesel that it will soon become the biggest seller in the range, so untying that hand behind the corporate back and letting the Coventry cat take on the rivals from Germany at last.

The new gearbox and a stop/start system that cuts the engine when the car is stationary (and, unfortunately, with your foot on the brakes) help the 2.2 XF record impressive economy in the official test: with better than 52mpg.

A brisk drive on testing roads around Jaguar's Gaydon headquarters near Warwick left my car showing 39.5mpg on its trip computer. That's an impressive real world figure for a car that simply asks to be driven.

Forget about diesels sounding loud and rough and producing hardly enough power to drag the skin off a rice pudding. In the latest XF we have a 187bhp diesel with a genuine performance feel – and the need to keep an eye on the speedometer to avoid the collection of points.

But the XF has even deeper charms. Without needing complicated and expensive suspension, the Jaguar engineers have produced a car that feels light on its toes and eager to tackle the next bend. It made me smile after the first bend and the grin never left my face, it's that impressive.

A little less so is the new interior, which still lacks the lounging room you might hope for in the rear. The new instrument panel uses some touches of blue where (the still unbeatable) white on black would have been easier to read.

At least there are now proper switches on the centre console below the big colour touchscreen to make choosing functions simpler; so sometimes more is less (confusing).

No complaints about the standard equipment, which includes xenon headlights, rear parking sensors and leather upholstery. Satellite navigation is a costly £2,050.

If you forget your new Jag is diesel-powered (not difficult), a petrol nozzle won't fit when you try to fill up. Clever, and potentially wallet saving.

No shortage of equipment in the restyled cabin

Korean brand spearheads UK relaunch with 4x4 Korando

SSANGYONG is ready to return to the UK with a range of high quality, top value models.

Leading the Korean brand's relaunch in September will be the new Korando crossover, offering European styling, superb versatility and efficient engineering from £16,995.

Designed for the fast growing crossover sector, the Korando offers the high riding position and all-weather, off-road ability many drivers look for as well as compact dimensions, low emissions and affordable running costs. SsangYong's advantageous pricing and comprehensive specification gives the new Korando best-in-class value compared with the Hyundai ix35, Kia Sportage, Mitsubishi ASX and Nissan Qashqai.

The key to its appeal is the renowned Italian car designer responsible for the SsangYong's looks - Giorgetto Giugiaro of Ital Design. Muscular yet svelte, the bodywork embraces a monocoque platform to give highly competent off-road handling with on-road refinement.

With the practicality of a 4x4/SUV and the accessibility of a family hatchback, Korando can go from muddy campsite to motorway, icy country lane to urban school run in complete comfort.

Paul Williams, CEO of the UK importer, SsangYong Motor UK, said: "Korando is a great value proposition, and arrives in the highly competitive crossover market at absolutely the right time."

Clever

Very keenly priced, a comprehensive list of standard equipment, excellent towing capability and thanks to its long wheelbase a spacious and airy interior, Korando is the clever choice for families and those who tow a caravan, horsebox or trailer.

SsangYong will offer a choice of trim, two gearboxes and front or four-wheel drive. All models are powered by an advanced 173bhp 2.0-litre four-cylinder turbo diesel engine producing 360Nm of torque with CO₂ emissions from 157g/km.

The Korando has an on-demand four-wheel-drive system which constantly monitors the level of grip available and distributes power to the wheels that need it most.

Under normal conditions 100 per cent of the engine's torque drives the front wheels so the car can run with the efficiency of a family hatchback.

If the front tyres begin to lose traction, power is fed to the rear wheels to ensure safe, stable and dependable progress is resumed.

An all-wheel-drive lock mode delivers a 50/50 spread of torque between front and rear wheels at speeds up to 25mph, essential for low speed traction and control, such as when driving up a slippery track or off a sodden field towing a caravan or horsebox.

With a choice of six-speed manual or automatic transmissions, buyers can opt for S or ES trim in front-wheel-drive, or top of the range EX specification in four-wheel-drive. The entry level variant comes with cruise control and ESP with Hill Start Assist.

Styled by Giorgetto Giugiaro, the Korean car has European looks

In the past two years, the online purchasing business We Want Any Car has expanded from Cannock to more than 50 offices throughout the UK

Car buying firm booms in recession

THE Cannock-based online car buying company We Want Any Car are one of the few companies that are expanding their business during the present economic climate by opening offices nationwide.

Starting with their headquarters in Cannock in 2009, they have steadily built up a portfolio which now stands at over 50 offices through-out England and Wales.

Offices are located from Blackpool to Reading and Sheffield to Peterborough, with more offices planned.

We Want Any Car have a simple, easy to use online car purchasing system, which enables the public to have a safe, easy and trouble free experience when it comes to selling their unwanted cars or motorhomes.

A few simple steps

Customers visiting WeWantAnyCar.com enter the registration number of their car and then provide details of the mileage and condition before being provided a guide price.

Once they have this valuation they can then request an appointment to sell their car. Offices are open seven days a week to ensure the process is as convenient for the customer as possible. Once the transaction is complete We Want Any Car pay the cash straight into the customer's bank, making the whole process completely hassle-free.

Operations director, Tim Clapham says: "Since we launched in 2009 we have had many customers travel quite some distance, over 80 miles in some circumstances, to sell their car to We Want Any Car, it was an easy and natural progression to expand the business further afield to other counties.

"I joined the company in June 2010, and after witnessing the excellent customer feedback and service We Want Any Car offered, it was an easy decision to expand the business.

"This expand was only really possible due to our reputation for customer service and competitive pricing.

"We can now begin to develop the business further, due to the continuing success of our brand, ensuring the general public have a genuine and credible choice in the online car purchasing market.

"We look forward to an exciting and busy year, with further expansions planned for 2012."

Text service

Alongside the office expansions, We Want Any Car have just registered a fleet of 30 vans which can now be seen throughout the UK. These are being used for the home visit and collection services which are becoming popular with customers.

To make the whole process even easier, they have now also introduced a new mobile texting service. With this service customers simply text their registration number and mileage to a unique number.

We Want Any Car will then call the customer back to discuss the car, provide a guide price and then book an appointment to see the car, agree a price and buy it there and then.

Any car considered

With the nature of the valuation service, it is easy for customer to receive a competitive valuation before opting to sell their car. Any car is considered, with or without an MOT or TAX.

Over the past few years We Want Any Car have purchased thousands of cars of all makes and models, from Aston Martins to Audis and Renaults to Volvos and will continue to do so, regardless of age or mileage.

With the price of running a car escalating through rising petrol and insurance prices, and with the recent introduction of insurance on untaxed or SORN vehicles, customers are now looking for a way to offload these rarely used or second vehicles, mainly because they have become too expensive to run or keep unused on the driveway.

For a free valuation visit the We Want Any Car website: www.wewantanycar.com

PRICES will start from £18,395 on the road with insurance from Group 12E; and will offer customers a high level of standard specification coupled with competitive cost of ownership. Also, with the lowest Benefit in Kind (BIK) cost in class, the Hyundai i40 range will become an attractive alternative for company car drivers.

Standard features, which set the i40 apart from other competitor offerings, are 16-inch alloy wheels, Bluetooth connectivity with voice recognition, leather steering wheel with audio controls, electric heated door mirrors with integrated LED indicators, electric front and rear windows and electric parking brake with automatic hold function. Touch screen satellite navigation with rear view camera, front and rear parking sensors, cruise control and dual zone climate control are standard on the mid-point 'Style' range.

Ventilated

The Premium models benefit further from the addition of leather upholstery, panoramic sunroof, keyless entry and supervision instrument cluster with LCD colour display as standard, plus the option of the Lane Departure Warning and Smart Parking Assist, heated leather steering wheel and ventilated front seats.

Designed and engineered at the company's European R&D headquarters in Rüsselsheim, Germany, the Hyundai i40 Tourer will be joined by a four-door saloon later this year. Prices for the saloon will be subject to a further announcement.

All Hyundai i40 models will be supported by Hyundai's industry-best, fully transparent Five Year Triple Care assurance.

This package offers five-year unlimited warranty, five years of roadside assistance and five years of vehicle health checks.

Hyundai earns its place in top five

HYUNDAI'S ix35 builds on an impressive SUV heritage, which has seen Hyundai continually feature in the top five brands for such vehicles across Europe.

It takes up the same amount of space on the road as a C-Segment hatchback and has prices to match. This makes it certain to appeal to customers who would normally consider a Ford Focus, Vauxhall Astra or VW Golf.

Despite the compact size, the ix35 can rival an MPV for practicality. The boot space is larger than a Ford C-Max, for example and there are plenty of features to keep parents and children happy and comfortable.

Designed, developed and engineered in Europe at Hyundai's state-of-the-art R&D centre in Rüsselsheim, Germany, the ix35 draws many of its styling cues from the ix-onic concept car, first seen at the 2009 Geneva Motor Show. It introduces styling cues, such as its hexagonal front grille, that will go on to appear in future Hyundai models.

A range of 1.6-litre GDI petrol and 1.7-litre CRDi diesel engines are available, along with six-speed automatic transmissions that will also appear in other Hyundai models.

With a compelling line-up of efficient yet effective petrol and diesel engines and fuel saving technology such as Intelligent Stop & Go (ISG), the ix35 offers incredibly efficient fuel economy and tailpipe emissions figures. Coupled with highly competitive list prices, the ix35 range is attractive to retail and fleet motorists alike.

A dynamic chassis, with

Compact, yet practical – the ix35 SUV

advanced multi-link rear suspension and a choice of two or four-wheel-drive drive-trains adds further versatility and driver appeal to the ix35 range, while advanced safety systems – including standard ESP (Electronic Stability Programme) on all models – make it the perfect choice for family buyers.

Gearstick

From £16,540 on-the-road, the ix35 range has equipment no rival can dream of matching. The entry-level Style model is cheaper than a basic Ford Focus, yet includes such features as 17-inch alloy wheels, ESP, air conditioning, Bluetooth connectivity, heated front and rear seats, electric heated door mirrors with integrated LED-type side repeaters, leather steering wheel and gearstick, reverse parking sensors and a trip computer. Stop & Go (ISG) technology is available on some models as a £200 option.

The Premium model is even more comprehensively equipped, with 18-inch alloys standard on all models (excluding the 1.7 CRDi 2WD), a double-length panoramic glass sunroof, automatic headlights, chrome door handles, chrome interior trim, cruise control, dual zone climate control with humidity sensor and Ioniser, electric folding door mirrors, front windscreen wiper de-icer, keyless entry with engine start/stop button, rear privacy glass, rain-sensing wipers, part-leather upholstery and roof rails, plus optional leather seats, touch-screen satnav and a reversing camera. What's more, all ix35's are backed up by Hyundai's famous five-year warranty and a 10-year anti-perforation corrosion warranty, meaning that what appears attractive in the showroom will remain just as appealing for years to come.

Training to start

HOCKEY

WITH the season now only weeks away Lichfield Hockey Club will begin the pre-season training next week.

The training gets under way on Wednesday, August 24, at the artificial pitch near the clubhouse on Eastern Avenue, from 7 pm. All are welcome.

This season is an extra special one for the club as it celebrates its 50th Anniversary.

With the Men's 1st XI going into the National League – one of the top 40 teams in the country – and the Ladies 1st XI gaining promotion in the Midlands league to their highest ever position, this will be a challenging season.

The club will run 10 men's sides and six ladies' teams with junior sides at all ages from under-8 to under-18 for both girls and boys.

Already both the men's and ladies teams have been strengthened with new players but the club are always on the look out for players of any ability.

Anyone interested is asked to contact Dave Willenbruch on telephone 01543 301326 or email david.willenbruch@ntlworld.com

Tory MP shows his bias

CANNOCK Chase MP Aidan Burley tried his hand at Crown Green bowls this week when he visited Chadsmoor Progressive WMC.

Mr Burley, keen sportsman, confessed he had played most sports but this was his first attempt at bowls. The Conservative MP attended one of the Chadsmoor club's league games, chatting to members and thoroughly enjoyed the experience.

The MP then had a game with Staffordshire county president Andy Cowan.

Bowls club president Mel Evans said: "Aidan soon picked it up and with a bit more practice and he would make a decent bowler."

HEATH HAYES

Share of the spoils deserved

ELLSMERE RANGERS 1 HEATH HAYES 1

AFTER a truly exciting and open game of football Heath Hayes thoroughly deserved to share the spoils.

Both sides will reflect on the number of near misses and wasted chances but at the end of the day a draw was the correct result.

Hayes could have gone in front before a Rangers player had touched the ball but Alan Haycocks volleyed the wrong side of the post. From the resulting goal kick a long ball down the middle caught the Hayes defence all at sea and Nathan Leonard fired home.

Home keeper Sam Jones produced a series of first class saves to earn him the Man of the Match award.

Hayes deservedly drew level on 38 minutes when Chris Deakin fired home from the spot.

Hayes take their improved form into their FA Cup game against Castle Vale at 7.30pm tomorrow night (Friday). The game is at Boldmere St Michaels.

Adders are out for the count

HEATH HAYES 4 ATHERSTONE TOWN 0

HEATH Hayes turned in a competent performance to convincingly take the points against a struggling Atherstone side.

The hosts soon settled into a good rhythm and it was no surprise when they took the lead after seven minutes. A clever throw out by keeper Adam Jenkins set Chris Deakin on his way and he played in Ben Haseley who confidently brushed aside two challenges to fire home.

The Adders had a brief spell of pressure but Jenkins comfortably saved two sharp Alan Keen efforts.

Hayes doubled their lead on 38 minutes when Steve Allen forced home from a rebound. The visitors enjoyed a good spell at the start of the second half until Dave Waple combined well with Haseley to get the third on 78 minutes.

Alan Haycock then won his side a penalty and Deakin fired home.

PITMEN HEAD FOR VICTORY

Cheyenne Dunkley celebrates the goal that gave Hednesford all three points

BRADFORD PARK AVENUE 0 HEDNESFORD TOWN 1, EVO-STIK NORTHERN PREMIER LEAGUE

A SUPERB opening day defensive performance by Hednesford Town secured an impressive 1-0 win against very well fancied Bradford Park Avenue.

Rob Smith's men were looking to continue the outstanding run of form which took them to within inches of promotion last season, and Cheyenne Dunkley's early header proved enough.

The pitmen did however, have their backs to the wall for the majority of the game. The difference between the two sides was a perfectly flighted Chris Clements free-kick on just three minutes which found Dunkley to power a header past Bradford keeper James Coates.

The defensive trio of Dunkley and new signings Pedro Monteiro and Chris Shaw repelled attack after attack from last season's play-off contenders and the Pitmen robustly defended no less than 14 corners as the home side desperately searched for an equaliser.

Despite the near incessant pressure Bradford will no doubt feel they should have made more of their dominance as Dan Crane was only seriously tested on one occasion when, on 21 minutes, Nicky Boshell controlled a flick on and forced Crane to smother his shot at the back post.

Six minutes later a looping header from another Bradford corner beat Crane but dropped onto the crossbar and away to safety and, save from some hopeful long shots the home side failed to break down a resolute Pitmen defence, with the outstanding Monteiro at the heart.

Smith's side set up to defend throughout the second half and hit on the counter attack as Bradford pushed men forward. On 54 minutes that tactic very nearly came off but for a fantastic save by Coates after Mark Danks had broken down the right and crossed for Danny Quinn to flick the ball towards the corner.

Substitute Nick Wellecome could also have secured the win with nine minutes to go as he battled through into the area and forced Coates to block his right footed shot.

Strength

As the clock ticked towards 90 minutes Bradford became more and more desperate in their search for an equaliser but all they found was the tower of strength that was Dunkley, Shaw and Monteiro.

As the Pitmen's travelling fans celebrated an important opening day victory, Wellecome was involved in an altercation with a Bradford player and was shown a red card for raising his hand – an unfortunate end to a very encouraging first win of the season.

Debutant Steadman earns first point for the Scholars

CHASSETOWN 1 WHITBY TOWN 1 EVO-STIK NORTHERN PREMIER LEAGUE

LEAGUE football returned to the Scholars Ground on Saturday with Alex Steadman grabbing a debut goal for Chasetown in a 1-1 draw with Whitby Town.

The Yorkshire side had been predicted as one of the outsiders for league success in the run-up to the new season, and they tested the Scholars with a strong display on a sunny afternoon.

The hosts managed to turn things around in the second half with a measured display which showed the three new faces in the side settling in very well.

The visitors made a bright start with Ryan Price forced into a couple of fine early saves by Tom Marron and former Middlesbrough man Andy Campbell, while Chasetown's first chance did not come until the 18th minute when a Chris Peel corner was cleared by keeper Tom Courtney before a Gary Birch header hit the bar three minutes later with Courtney beaten.

Whitby looked the more organised side and Price was called into action again, pushing Dave McTiernan's shot round the post and coming off his line to collect a couple of crosses.

The hosts were only able to enjoy a couple of chances via a Jake Sedgemore free-kick which went wide and a header from Darren Stride which saw Courtney collect Dean Perrow's effort.

On 38 minutes Whitby's efforts paid off as a cross from the left by Alex White was met by Jake Faichney and he headed in unchallenged at the far post past the stranded Price.

Chasetown improved over the second half with Perrow picking up a loose ball only for his shot to fly wide, while John Branch's high cross was pushed away.

Darren Stride and Peel also went close, the latter from a corner, while Mark Robinson enjoyed a chance or two for the visitors as their earlier efficiency seemed to wane. Price was still put to the test on a few occasions however.

Substitute Matt Tymon hit the outside of the post following a throw-in while a free kick from Robinson looked set to find the target only to bounce clear off the woodwork.

The equaliser came on 70 minutes when Ramone Stephens was fouled on the edge of the area and Branch's free kick found Steadman who headed home unmarked at the far post.

Gary Hay enjoyed a trio of chances to seal the points in the closing minutes but was unlucky each time, while Gary Birch also saw a shot go wide and the Scholars had to settle for a draw.

Chasetown were visiting Matlock Town last night (Wednesday) before a trip to FC United of Manchester on Saturday (August 20), kick off at 3pm.

Chasetown will travel to local rivals Heath Hayes in the first round of the Staffordshire Senior Cup, and have received a bye through the first round of the Walsall Senior Cup.

Stirring finish as Dunkley nets at death

HEDNESFORD TOWN 3 BUXTON 2

A STOPPAGE time header by Cheyenne Dunkley secured a stirring comeback by Hednesford Town as Rob Smith's men rallied from a goal down to win a pulsating match 3-2 on Tuesday night.

The Pitmen started like a train in the opening 20 minutes with Danny Quinn latching onto a superbly weighted ball from Chris Clements to open the scoring shortly after Clements himself had missed a one-on-one opportunity.

The home side failed to capitalise on their early dominance and by the 28th minute Buxton deservedly equalised when, following hesitant defending, Kieran Lugsdens swept the ball past Dan Crane at the back post.

Buxton finished the first half strongly and began the second in similar fashion, deservedly taking the lead as the impressive Lugsdens held off Pedro Monteiro, let the ball drop and finished confidently into the far corner on 56 minutes.

Once Nick Wellecome, Marvin Robinson and Jamey Osbourne were introduced, the Pitmen pressed for an equaliser and with 16 minutes to go they were awarded a penalty which Clements converted.

Despite the heroics of Scott Hartley the winner finally came at the death as, for the second time in a week, Dunkley headed a Clements cross.

Next up, the Pitmen welcome promotion favourites Chester on Saturday (August 20) for a 3pm kick off.
